Building on Strengths

“I see great things for my team, and I know I will never stop because this is how I realize my dream of helping hundreds of people realize theirs.”

Mylène had been using essential oils to support her health and her family for some time before her friend and now upline, Marie-Kim Provencher, introduced her to dōTERRA oils and the business opportunity. Because Mylène had dreamt for years of being self-employed, she was immediately interested. She soon committed as she saw how her interest in the oils, her desire to be employed, and her work experience in customer service and business development could work together.

In all that Mylène has experienced since then through her dōTERRA business, she is grateful to Marie-Kim. She says, “I sincerely believe that if I had not had the confidence and motivation of my best friend as upline, I would not be here today. My upline believed in me more than I believed in myself. This allowed me to grow and become what she saw in me. Because she has seen the power of having someone believe in her, Mylène strives to provide the same for her own team. This goes hand-in-hand with her why. “I believe that anyone can make their dreams come true by using their
